

Press Release - Florida Wound Care Doctors Opens The Orlando Wound Institute, Central Florida's First Independent Wound Healing and Hyperbaric Center

Florida Wound Care Doctors is proud to announce the opening of Central Florida's first independent, full-service wound care and hyperbaric center, the Orlando Wound Institute. Orlando Wound Institute seeks to increase access to quality wound care for those suffering from non-healing wounds in Central Florida.

Services offered at Orlando Wound Institute include but are not limited to: hyperbaric oxygen therapy, vascular testing, customized diabetic foot offloading, total contact casting, support surface evaluation, edema management therapies, nutritional support, comprehensive local wound care, including advanced cellular therapies, and patient/caregiver educational support. In addition, Orlando Wound Institute participates in clinical research, advancing the science of wound healing.

The Orlando Wound Institute seeks serve patients who will benefit from specialized wound care. These include people with conditions such as diabetes, poor blood flow, problems with swelling or other chronic conditions, who are particularly at risk for delayed wound healing; however, anyone with a wound that is not healing properly can benefit from specialized wound care. Early intervention by a wound specialist helps prevent serious complications such as infection and amputation and restores quality of life to those who suffer from wounds.

Orlando Wound Institute is located by Orlando International Airport, at 6200 Lee Vista Blvd. Suite 250. For more information, please visit www.orlandowoundinstitute.com.

About Florida Wound Care Doctors

Founded in 2000, Florida Wound Care Doctors is the only full-time wound care practice in Central Florida. Florida Wound Care Doctors founder and CEO, Walter A Conlan, MD, CWSP, USHM, holds board certification in Undersea and Hyperbaric Medicine (USHM) and is one of only 500 Certified Wound Specialist Physicians (CWSP) in the country. He is past president of the American Board of Wound Management (2012-16) and serves as the medical director of several local wound centers. In Florida Wound Care Doctors, he has put together a multidisciplinary group of highly skilled providers, dedicated to comprehensive, patient centered wound healing and limb salvage. Through the Orlando Wound Institute, it is Florida Wound Care Doctors mission to restore the best possible function and quality of life to patients through coordinated care, early intervention, education and advanced technologies.